Dear Hiring Committee:

I am excited about your Bank Teller opening. My professional and individual experiences align with the responsibilities of the position. I am certain I could add significant value to your team.

I have experience with balancing cash drawers. I am a “people” person that excels with basic math. Since I was in the third grade, math has been my favorite subject. I can add, subtract, and multiply numbers without the assistance of a calculator.

I am comfortable with selling and introducing clients to products that will assist them with meeting their financial goals. I view this position as the foundation for me to build my banking career.

I have no problem with adapting to best practices. I am a team player that grows from positive and constructive feedback.

My resume includes additional details regarding my education and professional experiences. I look forward to the interview process. I appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely,

Aisha Huff
